1. Background to the National Research Foundation and its Business Units

The National Research Foundation ("NRF") is a juristic person established in terms of Section 2 of the National Research Foundation Act, Act 23 of 1998 and a Schedule 3A Public Entity in terms of the Public Finance Management Act. The NRF is the government’s national agency responsible for promoting and supporting research and human capital development through funding, the provision of National Research Facilities and science outreach platforms and programs to the broader community in all fields of science and technology, including natural science, engineering, social science and humanities.

The South African Institute for Aquatic Biodiversity (SAIAB), based in Grahamstown, is a National Research Facility of the National Research Foundation. SAIAB is an internationally recognised centre for the study of aquatic biodiversity.

The high volume of research data generated by SAIAB scientists requires an upgrade of the IT storage infrastructure. This will bring about increased data security while making research data easily accessible to the SAIAB scientific community. This upgrade consists of the deployment of four storage systems that are both high capacity (80TB and 192TB pre-RAID capacity) and high density (2U and 4U respectively). Both NAS (Network Attached Storage) systems need the ability to scale should additional storage be required in future. Two of the storage devices will be located on-site while the other two will act as backup-up units, installed at an off-site data centre. The larger of the two storage systems will be dedicated to the Marine Remote Imaging Platform (MAR-RIP) platform.

2. Scope of Work

1) Supply and deliver the NAS (Network Attached Storage) devices, accessories, mechanical and solid state hard drives and as per the pricing schedule in section 14 within the specified timeframe.

2) Be responsible for the process of exchanging any faulty hardware with the manufacturer

The hardware in this bid will be used to build two storage platforms.

1 - IT Storage Platform

This storage will be used by virtualised servers and consists of two identical storage devices. These devices must meet the following specifications:

1) Each storage device must have 12 x 3.5" drive bays
2) A 256GB SSD (Solid State Drive) read-write cache will be required. Frequently accessed areas of data stored on the NAS must be automatically cached to the SSD cache.
3) Storage will be made available using the ISCSI protocol. Both storage devices (on-site and off-site) must be certified to work with VMware.
4) The NAS devices must have a minimum of a server grade Intel Xeon CPU or equivalent to avoid performance issues related to processing encryption.
5) At least 32GB RAM must be installed on each of the two NAS devices to manage the SSD cache and large volumes of data stored on this platform.
6) On-site and off-site units can use a maximum of 2U (2 x 43.66mm) of rack space each.
2 – MAR-RIP Platform

This storage will be used by scientists to store research data and high definition video footage and consists of two identical storage devices. These devices must meet the following specifications:

1) Each storage device must have 24 x 3.5" drive bays
2) The NAS must emulate a Windows File Server and will integrate with Active Directory for authentication. Clients will directly access data stored on the NAS.
3) The NAS devices must have a minimum of a server grade Intel Xeon CPU or equivalent to avoid performance issues related acting as a file server and processing encryption.
4) At least 32GB RAM must be installed on each NAS devices to manage the large volumes of this platform.
5) On-site and off-site units can use a maximum of 4U (4 x 43.66mm) of rack space each.

Common requirements of both platforms

The NAS devices must be able to:

1) Take automatic daily snapshots of the storage volumes and retain for at least 30 days.
2) Securely replicate iSCSI volumes and shared folders to another off-site NAS. Email notification will be sent after the backup to communicate the results. Network communications to the off-site NAS must be encrypted.
3) Support RAID6 (two drives can fail before data is lost) and hot spare redundancy options.
4) Redundant 10Gbps network connections with automatic failover.
5) Alert by e-mail, audio buzzer and status light when a hardware failure occurs.
6) Mechanical and SSD Hard drives must be certified as compatible with the NAS devices listed in the quote
7) The NAS devices must be rack mountable (in an existing rack)
8) Drives installed in each NAS device must be hot swappable (and can be safely exchanged while the unit is running)
9) Support hardware encryption (AES-NI)
